Not illustrated. 1908 Excerpt: .the different figures and, by swinging between centres in the end of the box containing the guiding prisma, can be turned down always into the same position ready for use, or up out of the way of the starlight, being held there by a spring catch. There are four sets of spark terminals mounted in a drum-shaped arrangement, Fe, Fe-V, Ti, and Cr, and any one of these is brought into position and adjustment by rotating the drum, the position being determined and the contact made at the same time by clamping a pair of screws. A small condensing lens, mounted in a tube below the terminals and in the axis of collimation, serves to form an image of the spark on the slit, a uniform illumination of the collimator lens being further ensured by a piece of ground glass in the upper end of the...
