Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Judgment: A Play in Two Acts Judgment is founded on a story told nae by a man who knew Peg Straw, and who was present at her wake. The only points in which the play differs from his story are that I have omitted a miracle which, the storyteller informed me, happened on the second night of the wake (it was noticed that although the candles lighted about the corpse had been burning for forty-eight hours they were not perceptibly shortened), and I have added the loom and the birth interest as symbols of Destiny and of the wonder and persistent newness of human life. All events, says Marcus Aurelius, turn out justly. If you look closely, you will not only see a connection between causes and effects, but a sovereign distribution of justice, which broods in the administration, and gives everything its due. The play is in the modem manner, using peasants as my protagonists instead of kings - who, like Pharaoh, are but a cry in Egypt, outworn figures in these days with no beauty and no significance. It is a study in suggestion, rather than statement. Art is concerned little with dogma, but much with the verities that are mysteries, and that always will remain mysteries, label them how we may.
