Neuware - Thesis (M.A.) from the year 2010 in the subject Communications - Intercultural Communication, grade: Distinction, Anglia Ruskin University, course: Language, Identity and Policy, language: English, comment: Professors's comments: [...] Overall this is an excellent piece of work that shows a student with extremely good research skills, an ability to organise, assess and critically appraise data, the ability to implement an empirical study in accordance with ethical guidelines and very advanced skills in English. It is thus worthy of a very good mark. [...] , abstract: Assessment of the Language Education Policy in Austria and its Fitness for Purpose within the European Union The EU language policy, which is directly linked to the EU language education policy, has been constantly developing since the establishment of the EEC more than fifty years ago (Treaty of Rome, 1957). The Council Resolution of 31 March 1995 on improving and diversifying language learning and teaching within the education systems of the European Union made it clear that in language learning and teaching, as in education in general, the principle of subsidiarity applies. In this respect, this work examines the existing Austrian...
