It is a special recce variant of the Wiesel I, with raised roof and modified interior. This article examines the new vehicle, of which only sixteen have been manufactured, as it was put through its paces. The article gives a full technical description, as well as explaining how the vehicle will be deployed and its development history. Photos give full interior and exterior views.2) "Uhlen Eagle 2005" - 1st (UK) Armoured Division Trains in Poland"Uhlen Eagle 2005" was a large exercise conducted at Poland's Drawsko Pomorski Training Area. It involved some 4,500 British troops and 956 vehicles, plus a small contingent of Danish troops. The size of the exercise offered the author plenty of opportunities to photograph a wide variety of vehicles in action. There are trucks (e.g. the Tank Bridge Transporter, Land Rover, Oshkosh Close Support Tanker) and a whole range...
